

EMBEDDED TUTORIAL - Applications for Ubiquitous Computing and Communications

The session views some potential use cases and applications that use ubiquitous computing and communications. The new aspects of these applications and the basic design challenges and solutions will be addressed.